Informative and Inspiring Sermons Von Palm Treo 700 User This is an outstanding collection of sermons by a keen intellect and brilliant preacher. The sermons included in this volume cover major events in American and world history from 1933 to 1980, including the Holocaust, the civil rights movement, and the Vietnam War, among others. Although the selections in this book are organized largely around then-contemporary events, the themes are timeless and timely. These sermons by Rabbi Harold Saperstein, a leading Reform Jewish rabbi, are insightful, inspiring, and passionately written. Rabbi Marc Saperstein has added excellent introductions and footnotes to the sermons which provide historical context and pertinent commentary. The sermons reflect an extraordinary mind and heart dealing with a succession of difficult issues, from a background of knowledge, wisdom, and ethical concern. In sum, an outstanding book.

Kurzbeschreibung Harold I. Saperstein served as rabbi of Temple Emanu-El of Lynbrook, N.Y., from 1933 until his retirement in 1980. The specific contours of his career reflect a sustained effort to use the pulpit of this suburban temple to communicate a Jewish perspective based on personal encounters with great issues of the day—including the rise of Nazism and the Holocaust, the civil rights era, the McCarthy era, and other turning points in American history. The fifty-two sermons in this book have been selected, introduced, and annotated by Marc Saperstein, whose award-winning books on the history of Jewish preaching have established him as a leading expert on this subject. No other book illustrates as effectively the value of the sermon as a resource for understanding the challenges faced by American Jews at some of the most dramatic moments in the turbulent history of this century. Pressestimmen This selection from a lifetime of sermons is a treasure. We see a half-century of American Jewish history through the eyes of a learned rabbi who fought for justice and decency all his life. Rabbi Saperstein evoked for me the actions and the passions of all those days, and my admiration for him rose sermon by sermon. --Rabbi Arthur Hertzberg, Professor of Religion Emeritus, Dartmouth College, and Past President of the American Jewish Congress Rabbi Harold I. Saperstein was a student of Stephen S. Wise. It is no wonder, then, that his preaching was a judgment on his time, reflecting the cadences and power of the biblical prophets. . . . This remarkable book is evidence of a burning fire in the marrow of the preacher's bones. It also points to the need for the prophetic voice, speaking with clarity and force about the ongoing issues of our own day. --Rabbi Jerome Malino, Past President, Central Conference of American Rabbis This is a gem of a book, important reading for anyone interested in the inner life of American Jewry in the middle of the twentieth century. . . . What is remarkable in these sermons is that they not only read well, they remain interesting for their texture and nuance even decades after they were presented. --Jacob Neusner, University of South Florida and Bard College Reading these sermons now helps us to relive what was perhaps the most challenging era of Jewish history in millennia. We are indebted to Harold Saperstein for having appreciated the historic character of our generation and for having carefully preserved his homiletical output as a legacy to our posterity for generations to come. --Rabbi Emanuel Rackman, Bar-Ilan University Kurzbeschreibung Harold I.
